BRANDED AS A CRIME

U. G. ROBINSON PUTS LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN THIS CLASS

An Earnest Plea Against The Legalizing Of The Traffic.

Rev. U. G. Robinson, assistant state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League spoke to a good crowd at the M. E. Church, South, in this city on the subject—"The Liquor Traffic a Crime and not a business." The speaker branded the liquor traffic as a crime and by the testimony of the audience proved it worse than highway robbery. He did it in this way: He pictured a father giving each of his two sons a dollar to spend as they liked. One of the boys started down town to spend his money and was waylaid by a highwayman and robbed of his dollar. The father got the other boy's dollar and sent the boy home drunk. The father and mother in the audience were then asked to hold up their hands who would rather the boy had been the one who was robbed by the highwayman rather than the one robbed by the saloon. Practically every parent in the house held up their hand. The other side of the question being put forth no hand was raised.

Mr. Robinson's other points against this traffic were just as strong and all who heard the lecture are doubtless more convinced that the liquor traffic is a crime and not a business.

The Anti-Saloon League is preparing for a location campaign in Jasper County. County location in Jasper county will apply to all towns in the county excepting Joplin, Carthage, Webb City and Cartersville. That is all of the people outside of these cities in the county will vote on the question and if carried it will be unlawful to sell intoxicating liquors anywhere in the county outside of the aforesaid cities with a penalty of from $500 to $1000 for violating the same. With such a law no city with less than 2500 population can license the saloon.

MISS IDA JAMES MARRIED.

Wedded To A California April Twenty Ninth.

The following from a California paper published at Coalinga tells of Miss Ida James who formerly lived on the Jacob Frick farm west of this city:

Married—

At the residence of Walter Merrill (father of the groom), five miles south of Los Angeles, at 10:30 a. m. Sunday, April 29, 1906, Rev. Macom, of Lemoore officiating, Miss Ida E. James and Mr. Louis Merrill, both of Coalinga.

The wedding was a quiet one, performed in the presence of relatives of the bride and groom only, under a bower of roses. The bride looked charming in a costume of white silk, carried a bouquet of white roses and wore a wreath of orange blossoms. The groom wore the conventional black. The scene was a very pretty one, and after the ceremony the bride and groom were the recipients of many hearty congratulations, also of some very nice presents. A sumptuous wedding feast was served, after which suit. Four months from the day they first met they were married. They say the nation's sons are not slow when they see a Missouri girl and this is a good example.

SURPRISED THEIR PASTOR.

Rev. B. F. Logan Given A Pleasant Reception.

The members of the Presbyterian church and its friends to the number of 55 or 60 gave their pastor, Rev. B. F. Logan and his wife a pleasant surprise last night. While the pastor was conducting the prayer meeting services a number of the ladies took possession of the home and the balance of the crowd accompanied Mr. Logan home. The surprise was most complete neither Mr. Logan or his wife knowing anything about it until they reached home. Refreshments were served and a jolly good time is reported by all present.

TEMPERANCE COLUMN

Conducted by the W. C. T. U.

"A Temperance Crank" writes for the Carthage Press and says: Bosch gave a big donation for the wrecked homes in California and he causes more horrors than the earthquake. I want to say I agree with this Crank. I was visiting a home once and the father came home drunk. I won't say he was "Intoxicated" or "Under the influence," or "had imbibed too freely," or cover up the state of affairs by good language for he was drunk and it would be a disgrace to animals to say beastly drunk, because animals could never be so wicked. He raved and tore. First he pushed over the supper table then he reached for a bucket of milk and ran with it to the parlor and poured it over the carpet. He was lassoed with the clothes line and tied firmly until he became sober. Well an earthquake is dreadful, so is fire and smallpox, but the ravings of that man lasted all night and his family and home looked like a wreck more dreadful than an earthquake, because it could be helped.
